

HAPTIC SYSTEM

An introduction to working with the Haptic System

Workshop with Marcelo Muniz
September - 2023 in Munich

Haptic is the name, which is used to define a quality of action, when kinesthesia and sensoriality are used together for the touch, creating a palpatory sense.

In a clinical perspective not only the sense of touch, but all the senses are integrated with kinesthesia, which expands the concept of haptic.

Hapticity is the motricity used in service of the sensory organ; it is the movement that modulates our senses. Also being the way in which motor skills behave in the world for sensory experience. We cannot separate perception from motricity.

All the difficulty in working with perception comes from not addressing hapticity.

When you work with haptic capacity is exactly when you move from postural work to attitudinal work.

Haptic motricity is not linked to agency; it is about the territory body. A territorial motricity, done to protect me or to allow me to perceive the world.

In this workshop we will explore through touch, movement and perception:

- Different levels of the concept of hapticity, applying the clinical concept into the context of work with Rolfing.
- The relationship of the haptic system to the gravitational field.
- How the haptic system affects core stability and spatial orientation.
- Presence and quality of touch.
- The body as an agent and the body as a territory.
- How to work with territoriality as a primary factor for the possibility of orientation and attitudinal change.

Marcelo Muniz

Has been an advanced Rolfer™ and movement teacher for 30 years.
He is a Rolfing® Instructor and Rolf Movement™ Teacher.
He is also a Cranio-Sacral therapist and a Somatic Experience practitioner.

He has studied with Hubert Godard in various trainings of movement education and perception in the last 18 years. These studies have been a remarkable influence in his working style as a somatic practitioner and educator.

Marcelo Muniz is the co-creator of the Soma Embodiment Method, a somatic approach to emotional trauma resolution. He has been teaching the Soma Method from 2011 in Brazil, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France, Portugal, Denmark, Poland and South Africa.

Marcelo's passion lies in the opening of the possibility for new emotional responses in the present time, responses that allow a personal empowerment for the future.

These answers are possible through a better embodiment quality and a change in the perception of yourself and the others.
